

BRAZIL'S TROUBLES.

The Province of Para Now Reputed Ready for Revolt.

Conflict of Arms Seems Imminent in Rio Grande do Sul.

Rio Janeiro Said to Be Practically in a State of Siege.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Exchange Telegraph Company gives publicity to sensational news from Rio de Janeiro. No explanation is given as to how the news was allowed to be cabled, and, as it is known that the Government of the Dictator has taken complete control of the cables and has refused to permit any intelligence not favorable to its interests to be telegraphed out of the country, today's despatches are not accepted here as certain to be accurate.

The Exchange Company's advice from Rio de Janeiro reports complete prostration of the postal service. This, it is asserted, was suspended today. It is supposed that this refers to the general postal service of the Republic, though it may be that it means only that of the capital.

At the same time the Government has put a stop to the transmission of all press despatches by the telegraph lines to the various cities of the country.

This step is interpreted as meaning that opposition to the Dictator's rule is growing in the provinces, and that the authorities are determined as far as practicable to prevent a centre of dissimulation and incipient rebellion from gaining encouragement and inspiration from prompt intelligence of revolutionary movements or uprisings in other parts of the Republic.

In Rio de Janeiro it is declared that a practical state of siege exists. The city is in the hands and at the mercy of the Dictator's soldiers.

The most stringent measures have been adopted to prevent disorder or organized opposition to the present regime.

If the report proves to be founded on fact, it would seem to be clear that a very large element in the capital is opposed to the dictatorship, and is only prevented by the strong hand of the military from asserting itself.

As all the newspapers which refused to support the Dictator have been suppressed the opposition has no public mouthpiece.

Today's despatches report that the forces of the opposition or party of secession in Rio Grande do Sul are already in the field and are marching, fully equipped, to meet the army of the Central Government.

The armies are not far separated from each other, and a decisive battle may be expected within a very short period.

Previous advice has declared the army of the seceders to be 30,000 in number. How numerous the Dictator's forces is not known.

The Exchange Telegraph Company's advice also gives sensational news from Para. It is asserted that the principal naval and military officers stationed in that State have held a meeting, and have declared the present situation of affairs to have decided in favor of a declaration of independence from the Brazilian Union by that State.

Para is one of the largest States in the Republic, having an area of over four hundred thousand square miles and a population of about 300,000. It is situated on the south side of the River Amazon, and stretches east to the Atlantic Ocean. The chief town is the important commercial city of Para, which is distant from Rio de Janeiro more than 2,500 miles by sea.

This movement in Para in favor of secession is considered so formidable at the capital, according to the Exchange Company's despatch, that it is believed that the Government of the Dictator will be unable to cope with it.

American Pork Soon to Be Admitted into Austria.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times says: "The negotiations of Col. Grant, United States Minister, with the Austrian Government in regard to the pork prohibition have made good progress that, although the negotiators are not sure, it is expected that a few days will see a definite announcement of the repeal of the prohibition of the importation of American pork."

British Merchants Afraid to Fill Brazilian Orders.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—British merchants are receiving many Brazilian orders for machinery, apparatus, &c., for developing Brazilian industries, but they decline to execute the orders at present, fearing a further fall in the rate of exchange, although the Brazilian offer to deposit with the Bank of England an ample amount of paper currency as security.

Prince George of Wales Passes Another Good Night.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Nov. 17.—The bulletin issued from Marlborough House this morning, signed by the physicians attending Prince George of Wales, states that the patient passed a good night, and that his progress towards recovery will be rapid.

War Party in Berlin Declared to Have the Upper Hand.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 17.—The Novosti declares that the financial crisis in Berlin has developed a political crisis, and that the war party has gained the upper hand, and that the prudent Bismarckian policy has been forgotten in the frantic desire to strike Russia in the moment of weakness.

ARON DIDN'T ABDUCT HER.

He Was Charged with Doing It by Pretty Dora's Papa.

In Police Court He Had a Marriage Certificate to Show.

Aaron Wolowitz, of 314 Madison street, was arraigned this morning before Justice Solan B. Smith in the Essex Market Police Court, charged with abduction, and it turned out that the girl he was charged with having abducted was his wife.

And thereby hangs the tale of a very pretty romance.

When Aaron was brought into court in charge of an officer he looked very guilty. He seemed to be in despair when he saw that his young and pretty wife was a prisoner too.

She looked smilingly at him, but that did not seem to cheer Aaron until his girl-wife slipped slyly to his side, and taking his hand in hers whispered something in his ear. Then he smiled and faced the stern and spectacled Judge without flinching.

Before she became Mrs. Wolowitz, the girl was Dora Dreyer. She is the daughter of Louis Dreyer, a wealthy pawnbroker at 440 Sixth avenue. Dora is very small for her age and does not look to be over fourteen. She is a very pretty girl, and her beauty led the unbiassed Judge to remark that he couldn't blame the lucky husband for falling in love with her.

Dora is sixteen. She reached that age on Oct. 13 last. Yet Wolowitz was charged with having abducted her last night. The law against abduction applies only to females under sixteen years of age.

Justice Smith looked inquiringly at the father and then at Agent Baker, of the Gery Society, who made the complaint, for an explanation.

"Your honor," said the former, "I had forbidden my daughter to go with that young man, which she refused to do. I told her that when I was told she was married I couldn't believe it."

"Yesterday I received information that Dora met Wolowitz clandestinely, and when she went out I followed her. She refused to go home with me and said she would stick to Aaron through thick and thin. As he refused to advise her to go with me, I had him arrested."

"Judge, this lady is my wife," said Aaron calmly, "and I can prove it to you."

Schultz, the prosecutor, produced a document which proved to be a marriage certificate. "This is a regular marriage certificate dated June 11, 1891," said Justice Smith, "and it certifies that E. Newman and Mrs. W. Wood on that date witnessed the marriage of Aaron Wolowitz and Dora Dreyer. And they were married by an Alderman."

"Great Lord," cried the girl, "exclaimed the Alderman."

"And she was only fifteen and a half years old then," stated Mr. Dreyer.

"She swore she was seventeen, and she told me she was that age," chimed in the young husband. He added:

"I was told by her stepmother she was fifteen, and I told her to pack up and come to me, and she did. I earn $20 a week, and I can support a wife."

"I can do nothing in this case. Go home and be happy. I don't care to be a judge," was the decision of the Solon of Police Justice.

Wolowitz walked out of court on her husband's arm, and her disappointed father went home to cogitate.

ITS NUISANCE NOT ABATED.
East Siders Still Complain of the Standard Gas Works.

People who live in the eastern district of London are justly complaining that the Standard Gas Company has done since it was ordered by the Board of Health to close its works at the foot of East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, to abate the intolerable nuisance from which the residents of that part of the city have so long suffered.

They say that the stench along Pleasant avenue and to the east of it, emanating from the works of the Company during the past three or four days has been more offensive, suffocating and rankling than ever before.

It is declared that officers of the Board of Health, that they regard the leniency of the Board of Health shown towards it as a license to continue the nuisance.

The Citizens' committee, of which J. T. Rosenheimer is Chairman, have received a big bundle of complaints from residents of that neighborhood during the past two days, which have been submitted to the Board of Health.

Some of those who have written letters on the subject are Walter S. Cowles, R. F. Smith, L. Bachman, Mrs. F. von Korff, Mrs. J. H. Hule, Mrs. J. Holman, Mrs. J. McLaughlin, Mrs. Arthur Schreier, H. R. Culver, David Hagan, H. B. Ward, Philip Muller, J. F. Peas and Joseph A. Seaton.

MR. SCHULTEIS'S CHARGES.

Immigration Commissioners Hear Them Behind Closed Doors.

An Official's Experience in the Steerage of the Servia.

The squall that blew over the Battery this morning, scattering angry waves over the seawall and making things generally disagreeable, was like a summer calm compared to the mental disturbance caused in Col. Weber's headquarters at the Barge office by the sweeping accusations made by special Immigration Commissioner Herman J. Schulteis.

The Commissioner went aboard last summer with Commissioners Judson N. Cross, of Minnesota; Joseph Powderly, of Pennsylvania; and Dr. Walter N. Kempster to examine the European system of gathering paupers, criminals and helpless children in Great Britain for shipment to America.

Col. Weber joined the Commission later, and all excepting Commissioner Schulteis returned some time ago. The latter who had been travelling in Holland, Italy and Russia as well as Great Britain, instead of returning as a seaman passenger, was an ocean liner, as his colleagues had done, decided to do a little detective work on board ship, and his arrival, in the guise of a dirty, unshaven immigrant on the Servia, yesterday, is the cause of the present commotion at the Barge Office.

When Inspector Lee boarded the Servia today, Commissioner Schulteis made himself known and requested him to ask Col. Weber to hold all the Servia's 225 steerage passengers until he could make himself presentable and appear at the Barge Office.

Commissioner Schulteis hurried to the Astor House and changed his clothes, and did not reach the Barge Office until 2:30 in the afternoon.

For this reason, he says, previously Inspector Lee had, he himself, was an "assisted" immigrant, part of his passage money having been paid by the London Society for Assisting Friendless Foreigners. He told Col. Weber, too, that thirty-eight of his fellow-passengers had their passages prepaid by people in this country.

Col. Weber replied that 50 per cent. of the immigrants had their passages prepaid by friends and relatives here, and he contended that fact evidence that the immigrants were not likely to become public charges.

Schulteis, however, contended that the immigrants who were landed, but could not prefer specific charges against any of them, alleging that they had no relatives here, and he contended that he had been allowed to land, contrary to his request.

For this reason, he said, Commissioner Schulteis, was unable to substantiate his sweeping charges of immorality and immorality among the Scandinavians and Swedish immigrants in the steerage.

Schulteis, however, pointed out Ingelberg Petersen, a pretty eighteen-year-old girl, who was a widow, and a close friend, which charge he indignantly denied.

Rev. A. B. Lega, Swedish missionary, at 140 Nassau street, who was called to the Barge Office, and told an Evening World reporter that he had engaged Lawyer Swanstrom, of 140 Nassau street, to defend the immigrants against Commissioner Schulteis at Washington for his alleged allegations against the young Scandinavians.

Commissioner Schulteis denied this morning that he had accused any particular girl of immorality or immorality.

He declined to say more until after he had made his report to Col. Weber at the meeting of the Commission.

The Commission convened at 11 o'clock, and previous to the arrival of the Commissioner, Col. Weber announced that the proceedings would be conducted behind closed doors. What Schulteis had to say, however, was not kept secret.

Weber declined to discuss Commissioner Schulteis's charges, but intimated that the latter had accused him of immorality and immorality.

"He was not appointed to take passage as a steerage passenger and pursue his investigations in that manner," said Col. Weber, "and it is not the province of the Commission to notice these allegations that he makes."

The meeting, too, is simply an adjourned session from that which we held last summer in London.

Col. Weber announced that the object of the Commission was to investigate the system of shipping undesirable immigrants to this country, and he said that he considered an open question by many whether Commissioner Schulteis has exceeded his authority.

On the other hand it is suggested that Commissioner Schulteis, in addition to discovering that the steerage was in a unsatisfactory, not to say filthy condition; that only twenty-five miles was consumed in vaccinating all the steerage passengers.

A placard attached to the dangling figure bore this inscription: "Almy—This was done by friends of Christie Warden. Will take the original text."

FRIED'S GALL COST HIM $2.

He Charges His One-Time Sweetheart with Robbing Him.

She Is Pretty Mrs. Sadie Niblo, and Is Held in Court.

In Jefferson Market Court this morning was heard one of those cases where the complainant, after a night's reflection, wanted to "say nothin' at all about it."

The complainant was William Fried, twenty-four years old, a son of Isidor W. Fried, of 110 West 22d street.

Last night William dashed breathlessly into the West Twentieth street station-house and said he had been a victim of a "badger game" at the hands of Joseph Niblo and his wife Sadie in their flat at 312 West Twentieth street.

Defective Carey, of Capt. Grant's command, went to the flat and arrested the Niblos. Fried, too, was locked up as a witness.

Fried told Justice Kelly to-day that he did not care to press the case any further, but the Magistrate directed the detective to make an affidavit embodying the charges Fried had made in the station-house, and said he would hold the prisoners out for an affidavit and order Fried to the House of Detention.

"I'm going to try to stop this badger business," remarked Justice Kelly. Fried was appealed at the idea of going to the House of Detention, and unwillingly swore to a complaint alleging that the prisoners obtained $2 from him by extortion.

It seems that Fried courted Mrs. Niblo three or four years ago, when she was Sadie, called Fried, and she married Joseph Niblo, a musician, and now employed as a waiter in a small restaurant.

Mrs. Sadie is a remarkably handsome blonde. Her features are comely in their youthfulness, and she is a very attractive woman.

Yesterday afternoon Fried met Sadie at Broadway and Vesey street and asked permission to call upon her. He says he didn't know that she was married, and he went on to call on her, and he did so.

He was making violent love to his one-time sweetheart, and she was very responsive. He was making violent love to his one-time sweetheart, and she was very responsive.

He went, and never stopped until, with white-hot eyes, he was found in the morning at the desk in the sixteenth precinct.

The fair Sadie explained to Justice Kelly that she had been deceived by Fried, and she had been deceived by Fried, and she had been deceived by Fried.

Justice Kelly adjourned the case.

MISS HALLOCK MAY TRY AGAIN.
The Jury Disagrees in the Actress's Suit for $3,000 Damages.

Actress Agnes Hallock will have to make another effort to get $3,000 out of William Barry, of the Barry and Fay company, for the blow on her breast which he is alleged to have struck her.

The jury which tried her case before Judge Beach in the Supreme Court yesterday were unable to agree. They tried until 8 o'clock, and then adjourned until to-morrow.

But, finally, Judge Beach discharged them to-day.

Justice Kelly is now the wife of Tom Barry, manager of the Gaiety Theatre, in Albany. He is not related to the defendant, Barry. His partner is Harry Pay, and members of the company, deny that Barry struck the actress.
